

Star's SECRET CALLS TO NICK

No one ever asks me out," Jennifer Lawrence admits. "I am very lonely every Saturday night." Which certainly explains why the Oscar-winning actress, 25, is hitting up her ex-boyfriend Nicholas Hoult again. "Jen and Nick never really lost touch, but they're talking almost every day now," reveals a source close to the X-Men costars, who remained amicable even after their second split in 2014. "Jen jokes that she can't even remember why they broke up in the first place." Of course, the longer you've been single, the better your ex begins to look. "Jen hasn't been with anyone since Chris Martin, but she isn't craving sex — she's craving companionship," says the source, adding that it's no secret the Warm Bodies star, 26, is Jen's backup bloke. "Nobody would be surprised if they gave it another shot." Days of Future Past, indeed. ★

Keith & Nicole SPLIT... OVER MOVIES

What's the secret to Keith Urban and Nicole Kidman's decade-long marriage? Separate... theaters, according to an eyewitness who recently spotted the couple, both 48, enjoying a date night at the Regal Green Hills Stadium in Nashville. "They walked in together, but split up after they bought their tickets," spills the spy, noting that Nicole likely bawled her eyes out to Me Before You whereas Keith sat down to watch Captain America: Civil War. "Her movie finished first so she had to wait for him, but they walked out holding hands. Apparently, they do this all the time." Sounds cheaper than couples therapy! ★

Gigi's INZAYNITY DEFENSE

When Zayn Malik suddenly canceled his Capital FM Summertime Ball concert on June 11, citing the "worst anxiety of my career," his girlfriend, Gigi Hadid, quickly took to social media to lend him her love and support. But while the supermodel, 21, gushed about how proud she was of him, sources say she's deeply concerned about the singer, 23. "Zayn's in a bad place right now and Gigi doesn't know what to do," reveals an insider, alluding to rumors that the One Direction dropout's incessant partying was behind the couple's brief split. "She's putting on a brave face because she knows Zayn needs her right now, but it's a lot to take on. Gigi wants to help, but she isn't sure how." ★

Katie FRIEND ZONES MATT

She'll be there for him — as a friend, that is. According to a source on the set of The Kennedys: After Camelot, Matthew Perry couldn't be any more smitten with his costar, Katie Holmes, but the single mom, 37, wants to keep their relationship strictly platonic. "Katie was thrilled when she heard that she was going to be working with Matt," a tipster tells Star. "She was a huge fan of Friends and loved talking to Matt about her favorite episodes. She even confessed to having had a big crush on Chandler Bing." Jackie-oh no! "Matt took it the wrong way," admits the source, although Katie's rep denies that Matthew, 46, came on to her. "She tried to let him down gently, but he's still holding out hope." ★

Eddie & Paige UNDER

Eddie Murphy and his girlfriend, Paige Butcher, welcomed their first child together — his ninth — two months ago, and sources say the new parents are learning nothing kills romance like a newborn. "The fact that Eddie's been spending his nights at another one of his homes in L.A. doesn't bode well," says a source. "After all, he has a history of loving and leaving his baby mamas." (Paige is his fifth!) And while a rep for the actor, 55, denies any trouble, an eyewitness spotted the model, 37, looking "downcast" at a Sherman Oaks, Calif., coffee shop on June 8. "Paige's parents were very concerned and they kept asking her if she was OK," spills the spy. "Something seemed up." ★
